Royal Jap-Honeymooners Arrive In United States

NEW YORK, April 10.—A pair of young royal honeymooners arrive in the United States today. America, meet Prince Takamatsu, younger brother of Emperor Hirohito, of Japan, and his bride, Princess Takamatsu.

Bearing the imperial blood in his veins, traceable through an unbroken line of 124 emperors, his highness will have a six weeks look at modern America.

He will find it far different from the age eternal traditions and restrictions of his native land. For even an imperial prince must secure the sanction of the emperor before he travels beyond the boundaries of the empire.

The dignity of the imperial couple will face the famous—and sometimes boisterous—welcome of New York to noted visitors.

But before running the accolade of ticker-tape canyon on lower Broadway, the imperial honeymooners will be greeted by a 21-gun salute as the liner Aquitania, bearing the royal party, enters the harbor.

LISBON THREATENED BY MARTIAL LAW AS PLOT IS DISCOVERED

Former Officials Are Caught In Attempt To Plot Revolts

LISBON, Portugal, April 10.—Martial law threatened Lisbon today as a military net spread over the city following discovery of a plot against the government of President Carmona, who dispatched an armed expedition against the Madeira Islands after insurgent forces at Funchal defied his dictatorship.

Thirty officers, including a number of former high government officials, were arrested on charges of plotting the establishment of rebel juntas in various cities in the Madeira Islands and Azores.

The seizure of the Lisbon situation became emphasized when President Carmona and his entire cabinet shifted headquarters temporarily to army barracks, well guarded by armed units, machine guns, and the bayonetted rifles of troops.

Soldiers, field pieces and machine guns were visible everywhere in Lisbon with reports that naval vessels in the harbor had trained their guns upon the capital. Strict censorship is in force.

It was reported here the rebel junta at Funchal was determined to resist by force the approach of troops. The first section of the expeditionary force, including light artillery and planes, was scheduled to reach the Madeira today.

Many Funchal residents were said to have left the city in fear of a bombardment.

While official government bulletins denied the revolt had spread, reports filtering into Lisbon reiterated the garishness of San Miguel and Azores, in the Azores, had joined the rebellion.

Most of the employees were those who had been added to the Thompson administration to strengthen the political machine for the recent battle.

The new mayor, who defeated "Big Bill" overwhelmingly in Tuesday's election, will leave next week for a vacation in Florida.

Meanwhile, Thompson, accompanied by a party of friends, is cruising toward the Mississippi and Tennessee Rivers in the interest of waterways development.

PICTURED above is the architect's conception of the proposed new home of the Peoples Building and Savings Co., which will be built this summer adjacent to the Citizens National Bank on Green St. The building now occupying the site will be razed.

Of fireproof construction of concrete and steel, the new building will be modern in all respects. A room for the directors will be provided in the basement and space will also be available for storage purposes. Plumbing, heating and ventilating and electrical equipment will also be entirely modern.

The project is now being figured by contractors and bids will be received until April 16 after which the contract will be let, the work started about May 1 and the building completed within six months. The architect is Edward P. Musselman, Dayton.

SPARTAN MOTHER WHO TURNED BOY TO POLICE, DEFENDS HIM

NEW YORK, April 10.—"My little boy a killer? Never. He was led into this crime by evil companions."

Thus Mrs. Elsie Harris today expressed confidence that her 13-year-old son Melvin would be cleared of a charge of first degree murder which police have lodged against him. It was Mrs. Harris who called on police to arrest her son when he confessed to her he had taken part in the hold-up and killing of a Bronx tailor.

"This terrible tragedy has taught me that mothers can never be too careful about the kind of company their children are keeping. I never dreamed Melvin was playing with evil companions," Mrs. Harris told International News Service today.

"I know he was led into this. Why, he has never given me a moment's worry since the day he was born."

"I called the police because I wanted everything to be cleared up as soon as possible."

Mrs. Harris is the wife of a well-to-do certified public accountant. She is short, dark and good-looking with a motherly expression on her face.

Following the arrest of Harris police took into custody three other boys whom they said were connected with the crime. They were Myron Hess, 15, who police said fired the shot that killed the tailor and James Bonarios, 15, whom Hess said gave him the pistol, Little Alvin Braverman, 12, who looks like a baby, was arrested because Hess mentioned him in connection with the hold-up.

Hess and Harris were arraigned in magistrate's court on a charge of murder in the first degree and ordered held. Although the penalty for this is electrocution a representative of the society for the prevention of cruelty to children to whom care of the children has been entrusted said the boys would probably not be electrocuted.

HOOVERS WILL LEAD WASHINGTON PARTY TO ATTEND FUNERAL

Pall Settles Over Capital;
Friends Express
Grief

WASHINGTON, April 10.—President and Mrs. Hoover, deeply affected by the untimely death of Speaker Nicholas Longworth, today prepared to lead a host of mourners to Cincinnati for the funeral, as a special train moved from Aiken, S. C., with the body and the grief-stricken widow.

The President's party will leave tonight, while the train bearing the body of the popular speaker of the house, his widow, Alice Roosevelt Longworth and a few close friends, was to leave Aiken before noon.

Final arrangements for the last rites had been made at Cincinnati, altered slightly because of the urgent requests of officials and close friends that they be permitted to pay tribute at his funeral.

A pall had settled over official Washington, shocked by the sudden passing of one of the best known and most loved figures in the capital in the last generation.

Messages rolled into the home of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Curtis at Aiken, where the body lay, and to Longworth's capitol office from all parts of the nation and abroad.

They came from members and former members of congress—Democrats as well as Republicans—from officials of other lands, from college classmates and friends in every state in the union. Tributes to his long service in congress and to his unflinching personal charm continued.

With the expressions of grief was a note of concern among Republicans.

SUNDAY MOVIE LAW IS PASSED

Awaits Signature Of Governor White

COLUMBUS, O., April 10.—The Marshall bill legalizing Sunday motion picture shows today awaits the approving signature of Governor George White before it can become law.

After passing the senate, the bill was approved by the house by a vote of 71 to 42 Thursday night.

An unsuccessful effort was made by Mrs. W. E. Slagle (R) state representative from Youngstown, to amend the bill so as to prohibit Sunday movies unless permits were issued in municipalities, and villages, by the mayor or other proper local official, or the people in rural districts, by a referendum vote, authorized such Sunday shows.

On the original rollcall the amendment was declared passed by a vote of 63 to 62. The house, however, reconsidered this vote and then defeated the amendment by a vote of 45 to 64. Having previously passed the senate, the bill goes to the governor.

CONTEMPT CHARGES AGAINST MEMBER OF BOARD DISMISSED

Contempt proceedings brought against Samuel D. Andrews, member of the Xenia Twp. board of education, by Mrs. Horace Anderson, wife of another member of the board, were dismissed by Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy Thursday afternoon.

The court held in dismissing the suit there was a lack of evidence to sustain the charge.

The contempt citation was based on the claim Andrews had continued to serve as a board member in defiance of the fact an injunction suit filed by Mrs. Anderson, seeking to unseat him on the grounds he was appointed illegally, was still pending in court.

Mrs. Anderson did not attend the hearing but her husband was present. Prosecuting Attorney Marcus McCallister, defense counsel, without introducing any testimony to refute the contempt charge, made a motion that the proceedings be dismissed and the court sustained him.

Andrews was originally appointed a board member last January to fill an existing vacancy. Shortly after he was named defendant in the action seeking to oust him, he resigned. Later he was reappointed a member of the board.

The black alders in Shawnee Park are unfurling their catkins in the spring breezes. Who can find the tiny pistillate flowers, many of which are on the same branches with the long, showy, pollen-laden catkins? These little flowers become cones like the ones which have been decorating the tree all winter and are still clinging to it.

CITY LETS CONTRACTS FOR NEW WATERWORKS EQUIPMENT HERE

Contracts for drilling a ten-inch tubular well, furnishing and setting screens in one or more existing wells and furnishing one 700 gallon-per-minute centrifugal pump at the municipal waterworks plant north of Old Town were awarded to the low bidders by City Commission Thursday night.

O. O. Pegg, Middletown, received the contract for the well projects on his bid of $1,005, while the Goulds Pump Co., Seneca Falls, N. Y., submitted the low bid of $1,405 for furnishing an additional high pressure pump.

With addition of the new well and pump, the plant will have three low duty and three high duty pumps and a total of seven wells.

Collins Wight, Dayton, who is this city's consulting engineer, told the Commission Thursday night that all the bids were attractive and indicated contractors were willing to share cost reductions with the city.

The contemplated additional pump capacity, he explained, will enable the plant to send water at a two-million gallon rate to the here reasonably full.

"The interesting thing," he said, "is that your power bill will be approximately $1,200 less per year based on your pumping the same amount of water you did in 1930. The new high pressure unit will save you $410 out of $4,820 for this part of the current, thus making a total saving of $1,195, which is the capital charge on $15,000."

Bulky petitions bearing the signatures of approximately 1,450 and repeal of three electric light ordinances which were recently granted The Dayton Power and Light Co. were also submitted to the commission.

The commission which has thirty days in which to act upon the petitions, referred them to City Auditor H. A. Higgins for verification of the signatures and directed him to report on the matter "as soon as possible."

Filing of the referendum petitions by proponents of the rival proposal of Fairbanks, Morse and Co. is with the ultimate purpose of forcing a special election in Xenia on the light controversy.

Annual street cleaning and sprinkling ordinances were also placed on their first readings.

Commissioner Harry M. Fisher was the only absentee at the meeting.

REORGANIZE SCHOOL SAFETY PATROLS; HEAR SAFETY TALKS

Reorganization of safety patrols in Xenia public and parochial schools followed safety talks given in both grade and high schools Thursday and Friday by Mrs. Kathryn E. Anneshansly, Columbus.

Mrs. Anneshansly represents the safety division of the bureau of motor vehicles under Clarence J. Brown, secretary of the state. Her addresses to school children pointed out traffic dangers and the way to avoid them by using care at street intersections.

She was accompanied to the various rooms by Peter Shagin, motorcycle policeman in charge of traffic in Xenia, who spoke briefly and by L. A. Davis, road patrolman under Sheriff John Baughn, who has been active in safety work among children in schools of the county outside of Xenia city.

Mrs. Anneshansly reorganized the safety patrols in each school and Shagin equipped the patrol members with new safety patrol belts and badges, which were donations of the Greene County Automobile Club. Mrs. Anneshansly hopes to have these organizations further cemented with a meeting later. She spoke again Friday at the Cedarville public school where Officer Davis furnished safety patrol members with their equipment. Efforts will be made by school authorities and officers to keep the patrols active during the school sessions each year.

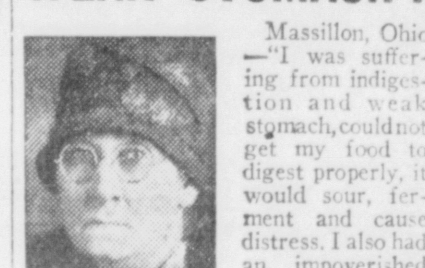

Poems that Live

SONG

(From "Maud")
O LET the solid ground,
Not fail beneath my feet
Before my life has found
What some have found so sweet;
Then let come what come may
What matter if I go mad,
I shall have had my day.

Let the sweet heavens endure,
Not close and darken above me
Before I am quite sure
That there is one to love me!
Then let come what come may
To a life that has been so sad,
I shall have had my day.
—Alfred Tennyson (1809-1892)

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

If any man speak let him speak as the oracles of God; if any man minister, let him do it as of the ability which God giveth: that God in all things may be glorified through Jesus Christ, to whom be praise and dominion for ever and ever.—1 Peter, iv, 11.

ECONOMY IN POLITICS

Political parties always promise economy, but they do not usually practice it after they get elected. Sometimes the people who have snouted the most ardently for economy, vote to spend more money when they get into office. It is not to be wondered at. Their constituents are continually clamoring for this or that new expense.

Now we have a new situation, caused by the great deficit which the federal treasury will show at the end of the fiscal year. It is likely to be over $700,000,000 and it might be a lot more. It will cause much head shaking and deploring in corner grocery parlaments, the village wiseacres will say that something has to be done about it.

New schemes and projects that involve great expenditures will start the next political campaign under quite a handicap. The politicians may shout for them, but they will find a back-wash of opinion setting against them from the home districts.

Some people claim that $1,000,000,000 could be saved in the cost of the federal government if it was run on strictly business principles. But anyone who undertook to carry out those strictly business principles would find himself in very hot water in about 10 minutes.

If he attempted to top off some bureau that duplicated the work of some other agency, he would be buttonholed by some politician before he could say Jack Robinson, telling him that such and such an official in that bureau was a good party man, a deserving Republican or Democrat, and must not be molested. So it would go all the way on saving the whole billion. It seems about as possible a proposition as diverting the Mississippi river so it would flow into the Atlantic ocean. Still, economy will be a popular slogan in 1932, and the politicians can not safely go against it too far.

BACK TO ROMANCE

The public is beginning to get weary of "hard boiled stuff," and is showing more interest in romantic and biographical subjects, according to Will Hays, so-called "czar" of the moving picture industry. If so, this is a welcome change. It seems inherently probable, since there is something incurably romantic in human nature. The great motives of love and achievement and struggle against difficulties have always held the human imagination spellbound.

The World war was succeeded by a period of cynicism, when people seemed to enjoy revelations of the mean and crooked sides of human nature. Many of them took pleasure in the idea that "Everybody's doing it," as applied to this or that wrong conduct.

But there is in human nature an incurable aspiration for higher forms of life. People like to read stories of men who have risen, or of boys who have worked their way up from nothing to high eminence, or of girls who have come out of humble surroundings to high positions. Something in such stories gives people courage. It gives them the feeling that they too could do something more than they had done, could rise above the humdrum and commonplace. Somehow stories and pictures of that kind trace a rainbow edge of hope along the drab surface of every day prosaic life.

The great novel writers of the past appealed to this love of romance. They were not so much interested to show up the mean and sordid sides of human nature, as to tell stories of heroic and noble action that aroused the admiration of their readers.

Probably the world is getting ready for a new revival of romance. The sordid side of life has been fulsomely presented for the past decade. It is time for a wholesome change of thought, which shall blow the fogs of doubt and despair out of people's minds like a fresh cool wind from the skies.

CLOSING THE GATES

It is getting constantly harder for aliens to enter the United States, at least by legal means. How many succeeded in slipping over the border while your Uncle Samuel is asleep, is another question. But anyway the labor department says that immigration has never been so small before. Industrial depression has helped reduce it, but the restrictions on intending immigrants have been much tightened.

There was an old song that read, "Uncle Sam is rich enough to give them all a farm," but if he has any farms to give away now, they will go to his own children. It was a fine ideal to make our land a refuge for the oppressed of all nations, but some of the oppressed have turned into bandits and gangsters and are oppressing us. It is just as well that the alien tide should slow down, until those we now have with us become more acquainted with our ways.

HOT DOGS IN GREENLAND?

Aviators are interested in the proposed air route to Europe via Labrador, Greenland and Iceland. Donald B. MacMillan, Arctic explorer, has conferred with Postmaster General Brown, in the effort to show that that route is practicable. The longest water jump is only 600 miles, and many aviators do not seem to regard that distance too seriously now for a non-stop flight.

The sleet that freezes in those northern latitudes constitutes a peril which not many of us would care to face in an airplane flight. However, the ingenious experimenters who are developing aviation, with a courage rivaling the ancient explorers who first opened up America, may find some way to deal with that difficulty.

The next generation may regard Labrador, Greenland and Iceland as merely way stations where they stop for hot dogs and gas.

Sometimes we think it wouldn't be such a bad idea if train announcers changed stations with radio announcers.

The extent of callisthenics for the average American, it would seem, is between hands up and thumbs down.

If he has lots of friends, a bibliophile and his books are soon parted. You can't charge a hockey player with responsibility for passing the puck.

It takes more mental equipment than a sense of direction, says the office sage, to get anywhere.

Most women think that Easter gives them sufficient excuse to get high hat.

Bo-Broadway

By JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

NEW YORK. — Recently in this column The Pastor quoted old Joe Pulitzer, founder of The World, as saying: "Every reporter is a hope, every editor a disappointment."

A correspondent, subscribing himself "Cynic" writes to John W. Carey, conductor of the scintillating column, "The Rear Seat," in the Sioux City Journal, to inquire "How Mr. Pulitzer probably would have classified ex-editors, turned columnists."

SANDWICH A LA PULITZER

If "Cynic" really cares to know, and he'll send his postoffice address. The Pastor will be pleased to knock off work for eight or nine minutes, to enlighten the Worthy Brother.

It cannot be done here. Popular prejudice, in newspapers, against six-masted expletives — "sharp proved words which cut the sea of sound" — is such that complications might ensue if old Joe's probable language were printed.

A genius, the late Mr. Pulitzer. He it was who first used the expedient of splitting a word to sandwich an oath:

"Inde—G., d., pendence" was a favorite expression.

DEATH OF A RIVAL

Jim Barrett, who was city editor of The World when the Pulitzer Boys sold the paper down the river some weeks ago, leaped to his typewriter, in a white heat and smashed out a book called: "The World, The Flesh and Messrs. Pulitzer."

Jim Henle, President of Vanguard Press, who has more guts than all the other publishers in Tammany Town combined, got the book out, and it's selling for a buck an' a quarter.

Barrett's reactions are more or less superficial. He's not one of those "deep-sea thinkers;" but as a human document, and as a demonstration of the tigerish ferocity with which a newspaper man can come to love the sheet on which he's working, Barrett's book is worth reading.

Jimmy, who squandered fifteen of "the golden years" of his existence on the paper, dedicates the book to his wife "Who was jealous of my affection for The World."

FICKLE MISTRESS

Following is an excerpt from Brother Barrett's book—and its 111 pages are crowded with just such emotional outbursts:

"The World was the kind of newspaper that attracts newspapermen, makes them want to work for it, makes them glad to sacrifice for it, makes them willing to stay with the paper year after year on low salary, getting little or no recognition from the so-called high-ups, doing the dirty work while others get the 'bylines' and the contracts, doing whatever came along, losing grip on home life, losing wife, children, family, just for the sake of being able to say: 'I am working for The World.' That's tragedy."

GOOD WILL BOMBING

SPEED OF AID GIVEN TO 'QUAKE VICTIMS DEPICTED BY STEWART

WASHINGTON, April 8.—President Hoover and the Red Cross function with especial energy in the face of a sudden emergency. A moment when others are fairly paralyzed by the unexpectedness of some great disaster, and flabbergasted by the utter lack of preparation seems to be just the moment when the president's head is the coolest and the machinery of the Red Cross hits most accurately on all cylinders.

The promptness with which the White House rose to the Nicaraguan situation, the promptness with which it stirred the navy department to action, the rapidity with which the Red Cross mobilized its resources and expedited plans for the immediate and aerial transport of skilled direction to the scene of the Central American catastrophe were beautiful and wonderful.

Of the friction and squabbling which marked the dispatch of assistance to Arkansas and other drought-parched regions in the United States a few weeks ago there was not a trace.

From Mr. Hoover and John Barton Payne down to the most unimportant of their assistants the spirit evidently prevailed that thousands of people were suffering under overwhelming misfortune, that haste—without confusion—was as essential to them as relief itself, that the occasion was not one for the waste of a moment for consideration of questions of expense. The watchword was, "If funds already provided are inadequate, there are plenty more."

It sounded curiously in comparison with the arguments listened to not long ago in connection with problems involved in carrying American drought victims through the fog end of the winter—with the ever-recurring suggestion, "It is all very well to talk about relief, but these farmers must not be pauperized."

So much for the demonstration which the Nicaraguan tremor has afforded.

The earthquake promises, like wise, to furnish an excuse to cancel orders for the recall of United States marines from the little republic. Of the 1,300 still there arrangements had been made for the withdrawal of all except some 500 by June 1.

In this matter Mr. Hoover has given repeated indications of sympathizing with those who oppose the employment of American armed forces on such duty if it can possibly be avoided.

Nevertheless, there are obvious influences in favor of the leather-necks' retention in full present or increased numbers in the Central American field. These influences already are advancing reasons against any modification of the existing occupation. Were congress in session, the president would find supporters on Capitol Hill for his program of reducing the marines' strength in Nicaragua to a minimum. In the lawmakers' absence, however, the pressure on Mr. Hoover to revise his plans may prove more difficult for him to resist.

SUGGESTIONS

Comic Strip Scrap Book
Choose a good comic strip for children. Cut out the strip every day and paste it in a book. This can be used as a story to read to restless children on dull days or when they are ill, and they can, if they wish, color the pictures.

Beat the egg whites and cream of tartar until stiff and add the yolks, one by one, beating well between each addition. Add sugar gradually, still beating with the flat beater. Add orange rind and juice, then fold in the flour and salt and baking powder which have been sifted together. Bake in a nine-inch layer cake tin, in a moderate oven, 325 degrees, about eight minutes. Spread orange cream filling between layers and cover top and sides with orange frosting.

Jilted Lover Better Off Losing Girl

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am 23 years old. I have a good position. I'm in love with a beautiful girl and we were to have been married March 15. I secured the license two days previous, and on the morning of the 15th she informed me she was only teasing.

"Please advise me what steps to take. Would it be advisable to sue for breach of promise?"

"BROKEN HEARTED."

I think the most sensible thing for you to do, Broken Hearted, is to get down on your knees and thank your Maker that you were saved from marrying such a dishonorable and thoroughly selfish person. Can you vision the kind of life you would have lived with her?

Personally, I can't think of money consoling one in such a situation, even if you won a suit against the former girl friend. Money is nice to have if you want things like clothes, automobiles, travel, etc., but as a mender of broken heart it's practically a total loss.

And, besides, if you brought suit against her are you not more likely to make a laughing stock of yourself than to get any satisfaction out of it? I think so.

So if you can't yet quite bring yourself to hold a little private thanksgiving for your escape from this young woman, whose sense of honor or something seems to be warped, have faith that you will do it wholeheartedly some day. Don't waste your time moaning, but step out and find a girl friend who will appreciate a faithful lover. You'll be surprised how soon your broken heart will heal.

Heartbroken: If you know the crowd you go with is wild, why not give them up and not let foolish pride interfere with what you know to be wise? Some natures naturally strike sparks from one another, matter how much the two people like one another. You can only keep on trying not to quarrel when you are with this boy. Every time you keep back an angry retort you are so far ahead. Try not to spoil a pleasant friendship—if not something warmer—by needless jangling.

BROKEN HEARTED: A girl who doesn't keep her word and who is disagreeable and says things to hurt a man's feelings when they are engaged, is not the type to make a happy home life for a man.

Broken Hearted, Why feel badly, then, that you have broken with her? Why not be glad and try to find a girl who has consideration for you and will be true? There are such girls, so try to mend your broken heart by finding one.

A. F. M.: For the sake of the coming child I think you should tell your friend very firmly that you and he are going to be married. As he treats you in every way as if you were married, I think you should be privileged to wear a wedding ring and bear his name. Threaten to take the matter to court if he does not. You could ask advice of a Woman's Protective League. They would respect your confidence and give you good advice. This is no time to let your pride dictate what you shall do.

Makes Tragic Situation

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

The presence in a family of a mentally defective child is a tragic situation all around. The child, itself, is usually desperately unhappy because it dimly may realize its own deficiencies and comparing itself to the other normal children is a cause of sadness. The presence of the defective child puts a damper on the other children and its existence is a source of humiliation to the parents.

Particularly is this true of the type of mentally defective child called mongolian idiot. These children may be born into a family that is mentally sound in every other member. The mental deficiency is not apparently hereditary in character, as is true of other types of mentally defective children. Placing such children in an institution with other children of the same kind is like giving them a new life. With other mongolian idiots they do not feel their own inferiority, they become happy and contented. I shall never forget a visit I made to one such institution a few years ago. One's preliminary idea is that such a visit will be depressing, but it was just the opposite. I never saw so many happy children in my life. Their affection for each other and for the guardian who conducted the institution was positively uplifting and encouraging.

There is one great lesson in such a thought for parents so unfortunate as to have a child of this kind. If it is at all possible the child, for its own and everyone's good, should be put in an institution. Parents are often blinded by pride or affection to the child's best interests in this respect. Often they are deluded by too hopeful expectations of the future—that the child is going to outgrow its trouble and improve. Such things are rare. As Dr. John Thompson of Edinburgh says: "Not only is their affection for each other and for the guardian who conducted the institution was positively uplifting and encouraging."

These rare cases of improvement concern, for one thing, the child's own good. Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendingening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each and a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendingening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

A "Facial—" Skin Ruined

By GLADYS GLAD

As anyone who reads my daily column must have discovered long ago, I am not very much in favor of facial massages. I have explained my standpoint on this before. The principle of massage is employed in reduction methods because of its efficacy in breaking down fatty tissues. And the maintenance of the fatty tissues around the facial muscles is necessary for the preservation of the rounded, youthful contours of the face.

But many times more harmful than the facial massage on a healthy skin is the "facial" taken when the complexion is marred by any eruptions. Even the presence of one infected pimple makes the "facial" a really dangerous operation. And in acne conditions, the harmfulness of a "facial" cannot be overestimated.

Whenever the condition of the skin is not perfect, any of the poisons from infections may be carried to uninfected areas, and the results be alarmingly serious. Until such infections have healed completely, the use of a pure, bland soap, or perhaps a specially prescribed medicated soap, and warm water is the preferable method of cleansing the skin.

A number of women of my clientele have discarded the use of the washcloth, preferring to administer their facial ablutions with their hands. There is one distinct advantage in this method. You can always be sure that you have thoroughly rinsed your face. Culture if you will write her, care of this paper, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin for each, to cover cost of printing and handling. For the articles on "Care of the Hands and Nails" and "Care of the Feet and Legs," 2 cents in coin for each, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope are required. Personal questions of beauty will be answered through Miss Glad's daily column.

However, this method also has its disadvantages. For the hands cannot work the soap lather into the skin thoroughly enough to remove blackheads very effectively. If the hand method of cleansing is adopted, I would advise that the skin first be softened, and the pores opened by the use of a li-

How Much Is Your Overhead? You Don't Know?

Answer These Questions By MARSHALL MASLIN

Perhaps you have too much overhead.

That will drag you down, just as certainly as too much overhead will ruin a business.

When a business gets into trouble the first question that the expert asks is: "How much does it cost you to do business? What are your interest charges? Are you top-heavy with useless expenses? Are your manufacturing methods out of date? Is your sales cost too great? Is your rent too high? The expert comes into a business and asks intruding questions. He wants to know why the business is "in the red" and when he discovers that the overhead is too great he has the answer to all his questions. I'm no expert, but if you are unhappy and have all decided that life is not worth living, perhaps you will let me ask you these personal questions:

1. Do you think you are Important?

2. Are you a Sensitive Soul, and do you take life as a Personal Insult?

3. Do you feel you are different from other people?

4. How much of your time do you spend in worrying about the past?

5. Are you afraid that people don't understand you?

6. How many people do you imagine are Against You?

7. Do you feel inferior?

8. Do you think life is a Mess?

9. Are you a pessimist about everything?

10. What are you in a rage about now?

If you answered those ten questions truthfully, I could tell you right away whether your Overhead is too great. I'd know at once whether you're in the red or are a happy human being. Anybody could do that. You could do it, yourself. And if you have sense enough, and courage enough to wipe out most of that overhead and stop packing that heavy, heavy load—you could be just as happy as anybody else.

Victorious in its first away-from-home match of the season, the O. S. and S. O. Home's crack smallbore rifle team hopes to give an even better account of itself in a match to be staged on its own range Saturday afternoon with the American Legion junior rifle team from Lima, O.

The cadet marksmen, augmented by their military instructor and coach, Lt. Perry Swindler, one of the foremost sharpshooters of the state, defeated Company "K" National Guard unit, at Delaware, O., Wednesday night, 812 to 783.

The margin would have been much greater, but for the fact Glendon Lakes, the crack shot of the Home team, was off form and accumulated only 158 points. Lt. Swindler says the cadet usually averages around 172 points from a fifty-foot distance, shooting in the four positions—prone, sitting, kneeling and standing.

Earlier in the season when the home team fired what was known as a "postal" match, Lakes registered the fine total of 186 points and the military instructor characterizes him as one of the finest shots in the state with the small-bore rifle.

Lt. Swindler reveals a return match with the Delaware company will be fired here in two weeks and that home-and-home matches with Stivers High of Dayton may be arranged. A former star Home marksman is a member of the Orange Crusher team this year.

The Lima junior Legion team is expected to bring two and perhaps three auto loads of boys to the state institution here Saturday. The visiting contingent will arrive in time for lunch and before the match will inspect the grounds and buildings.

According to Lt. Swindler, who is justly proud of his cadet rifle team, the National Guard team of Delaware, which his proteges defeated Wednesday night, was, until recently, commanded by Major David R. Smith, who was team captain of the Ohio State rifle teams in 1929 and 1930. The state team finished in tenth place in the national matches during both years of his regime.

Thursday afternoon the cadet rifle team fired another "postal" match, after which the targets were sent off to Fifth Corps Area headquarters, Chicago, Ill. Each R. O. T. C. unit and military school in the United States had one or more teams entered in this "mail order" match.

Last year the Home team finished fifth among the junior units of the Fifth Corps Area, there being six other junior units competing. The team placed twentieth among the junior units of the United States with nearly 150 teams participating.

McKinley, Brown, Lakes and Snyder are the star members of the cadet team this season.

Football relations between Xenia Central and Urbana are expected to be renewed during the 1931 season.

When the tentative 1931 gridiron chart for the Buccaneers was first drawn, it had been prepared with the expectation of scheduling only eight games instead of ten, also curtailing the length of the campaign by not arranging a game for Thanksgiving day.

Now it is revealed negotiations are practically complete for Xenia to clash with Urbana gridriders on the Urbana gridiron in a Thanksgiving day classic this fall. The last time Xenia met Urbana in football was in 1927 or 1928, the exact year slips on the mind. The contest was staged on a dust-coated Urbana gridiron and Xenia won.

More than 200 Luther Leaguers attended the meeting when Dr. D. Bruce Young, pastor of the First Lutheran Church of Shelby, spoke on "Impounding Lives." Dr. Young is a member of the state Luther League executive board.

The Xenia delegation included: Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kohl, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Maxwell, Phyllis Melhage, Mary Maxwell, J. F. Molitor, Glenn Shadley, Helen Nichols, Ben Shadley, Evelyn Nichols, Marjorie Shoemaker, Pearl Davis, Emma Benson, John Vanderpool and the Rev. Adrian G. Lebold.

The next meeting will be in Xenia early in June, probably in the form of a picnic or an out door event.

FORMER PRESIDENT OF GUATEMALA DIES

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 10.—General Lazaro Chacon, who was forced to resign as President of Guatemala last December, died here today following an attack of paralysis.

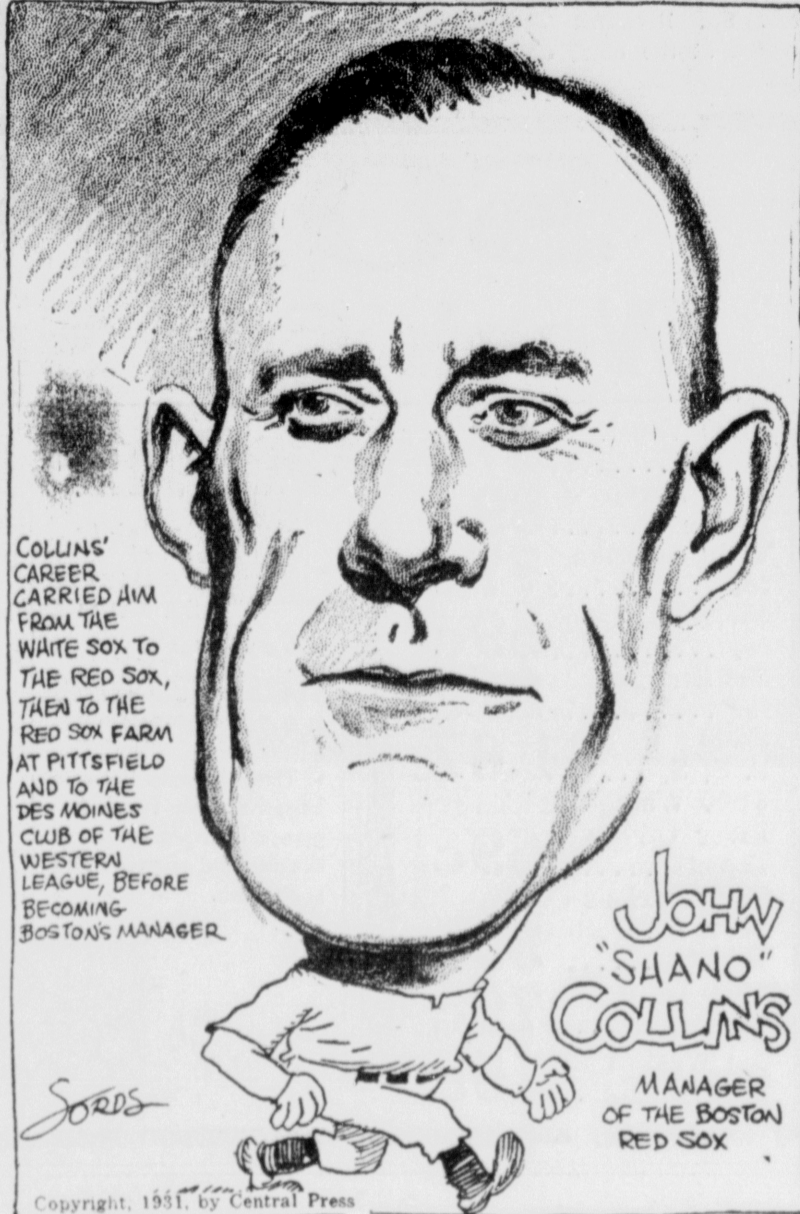

General Chacon, who came here immediately after being forced to flee Guatemala, was stricken two weeks ago. Archbishop Julian Rivera administered the last sacraments of the church.

He had been prominent in Guatemalan affairs since 1906.

His widow, nine sons and three daughters survive him.

MEET THE MANAGER

BY JACK SORDS

COLLINS' CAREER CARRIED HIM FROM THE WHITE SOX TO THE RED SOX, THEN TO THE RED SOX FARM AT PITTSFIELD AND TO THE DES MOINES CLUB OF THE WESTERN LEAGUE, BEFORE BECOMING BOSTON'S MANAGER.

John Collins, the old "Shano" Collins, who for many years was a familiar figure in the outfield of American League parks, gets his big chance this year to qualify as a major league manager.

Collins, after a successful, though short, career as a minor league pilot, has taken up the reins of the Boston Red Sox, one of the clubs for which in former days, he played. The Red Sox are not a strong team and haven't been for many years. However, if Collins can bring them up out of the cellar and nearer the top of the second division instead of the bottom he will have demonstrated that he is capable of conducting the destinies of a big-time team.

After retiring as a big league player Collins went to Pittsfield, Mass., as manager in 1924. He remained with that club until 1926, when the Eastern League disbanded. Collins then became manager of the Des Moines Western League club and promptly won a pennant for the Iowa city.

Collins came to the big league some twenty years ago as an infielder. Later he tried the outfield and remained in that position

KNUTE ROCKNES BEST STORIES

As told by DON MILLER
One of the famous Four Horsemen of Notre Dame

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is a series of the late Knute Rockne's best stories with which the late Notre Dame grid leader put a smile into the game of football. They are told by Don Miller, a close friend of Rockne's. Miller was one of the Four Horsemen, Rockne's famous backfield.

It was great fun—and hard work—playing football for Notre Dame under Knute Rockne.

Rockne's fine personality, his great sense of humor, his keen understanding of human nature, made the task of making good in a Notre Dame football uniform a pleasurable one, an experience no Notre Dame player could forget or would want to.

With Rock there was time for everything. When it was time to be serious he was serious, and expected his men to be. When a joke or a laugh was in order, Rock could delve into his seemingly limitless supply of funny stories and find one.

He liked to relate the following one, which actually happened in my junior year—1923.

In the years 1919 and 1920, Notre Dame's team was undefeated. The 1921 team lost one game, 10 to 7, at the hands of Iowa. Outside of that game the 1921 team swept the country. It was that aggregation that is considered one of the greatest defensive teams in the history of Notre Dame.

The 1922 and 1923 teams lost one game each year—both to Nebraska. Defeats were such a rarity, a lot of South Bend folks began to think Notre Dame couldn't lose.

Among these was the janitor of Sorin hall, one of the university halls. He possessed a friendship for a janitor of the high school in South Bend. Every Friday they would meet and make a bet of 50 cents on the outcome of the game the following day, which was usually the result of an argument about the greatness of Notre Dame football. In 1919 and 1920 he won all his bets. In 1921, of course, once he lost, and once again in 1922.

After the Nebraska game of 1923 the old janitor met us at the train upon our return. As Captain Harvey Brown alighted, he asked him, "Hey, what happened?"

Brown grinned. "Rock says mental poise lost the game for us," he answered.

"Doggone," the janitor exclaimed, "that guy never could play football!"

The Schmidt Oil Co., was unequal to the feat of winning three straight games from the American Legion and had to be content with two out of three in a Recreation League bowling match Thursday night. Returning to the lineup after a long absence, Lawrence Wagner led the winners with a series of 563, while Earl Gannon totalled 565 for the Legionnaires. Box score: Schmidt Oil Co.

SPRING VALLEY TO OPEN BALL SEASON

Spring Valley High School's baseball team was scheduled to open its diamond season against Jamestown High on the former's diamond Friday afternoon.

Spring Valley has also booked home games with Dayton Fairmont for Friday, April 17; Beaver creek for Wednesday April 15 and Bowersville for April 30. Bath Twp. High will be played at Osborn April 24. A contest with Cedarville High may also be arranged.

Minus the services of Smith, pitcher, Huff, Beam and Haydock, regulars, lost to the school by graduation last year, Spring Valley nevertheless is hopeful of experiencing another successful season. Reeves will probably be the first string hurler this campaign with Compton and F. Lumpkin also candidates for mound duty.

GRIEF EXPRESSED BY FESS FOLLOWING LONGWORTH DEATH

Senator Simeon D. Fess, chairman of the Republican National Committee, who has been spending a brief vacation at his home in Yellow Springs this week, expressed sincere regret Thursday when informed of the death of Nicholas Longworth, speaker of the House of Representatives.

"The nation mourns the death of one of its distinguished citizens," said the senior Ohio senator, who had for many years been in close contact with the speaker.

"Speaker Longworth has made a place for himself that extends beyond the realm of public interest. His varied attributes and long experience eminently qualified him to be a leader in many lines of human activities."

"He was loved most in the House of Representatives, where he was best known and over which he presided with such dignity. He was respected as much by the minority of the House as by the majority."

"His death is a great loss to the nation and a personal grief to the thousands of his friends."

Senator Fess had planned on returning to Washington, D. C., Friday night but instead he will go to Cincinnati Saturday morning and join the Washington delegation which will meet Mrs. Longworth upon her arrival at that city with the body of her husband.

ROCKNE ESTATE WAS DEPLETED BY CRASH

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 10.—The will of Knute K. Rockne, famous coach of Notre Dame, filed yesterday with the county clerk, names Mrs. Rockne and the American Trust Co. executors.

While no valuation has been made of Rockne's property, it was said his holdings probably will not total more than $50,000. The widow and children will receive this sum, in addition to about $100,000 insurance. There is a possibility the insurance may be increased because of a double indemnity clause.

Intimates said that Rockne lost heavily in the stock market and made other unprofitable investments.

Traveling Man Tells Health Secret

Philadelphia, Pa.—L. Lambertson of this city, traveling salesman, is widely known for his exuberant health. Knowing the hurried life travelers must lead, it is all the more surprising. Interviewed recently, Mr. Lambertson said: "If I find that travel, with its irregular hours and change of food, tends to constipate. For that reason, a bottle of Pluto Water is always in my bag. I find that it affords speedy relief, even in the most stubborn cases. I recommend Pluto to every man who travels a great deal."

Pluto Water is invaluable, not only as a relief from constipation, but as a preventive. Take a small quantity each morning upon arising, diluted in plain hot or cold water. It will keep you regular—help ward off other serious complaints. Drug stores and fountains everywhere sell Pluto Mineral Water.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. MARY E. PHILLIPS AT YELLOW SPRINGS

Mrs. Mary Ellen Phillips, 83, oldest resident of Yellow Springs, died at her home on Xenia Ave. in that village Thursday night at 9:50 o'clock. Death was due to a complication of diseases.

Mrs. Phillips was born in Yellow Springs July 4, 1847, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hafner. Her father built the first house in Yellow Springs, which at that time was known as Forest Village. The house of log construction and known as the Neff house, is still standing. Hafner came to the United States from the village of Kell, near Baden, Germany, with his father's family in 1832, it taking six weeks to cross the ocean in a sailing vessel. Mrs. Phillips' grandfather served as an officer under Napoleon.

Mrs. Phillips was married to Capt. Edwin Phillips, of Springfield, June 21, 1866 and he preceded her in death a number of years. She was the oldest member of the Yellow Springs M. E. Church and was a charter member of the Women's Missionary Society of that church. She is survived by a niece, Mrs. S. S. King, Dayton and a cousin, Mrs. Charles Leaning, Hudson, O.

Funeral services will be held at the Littleton Funeral Parlors, Yellow Springs, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock and burial will be made in Glen Forest Cemetery.

YOUTH ASKS PAROLE

Arthur Vance, 23, secretly indicted by the grand jury in connection with a chicken stealing episode January 27, pleaded guilty in Common Pleas Court Thursday. Deferring passage of sentence, Judge R. L. Gowdy took under advisement Vance's request for a parole. Vance recently surrendered to authorities. He evaded arrest for more than two months after a raid made upon a hen house on the farm of Charles Forsythe, Lower Bellbrook Pike, was thwarted.

WATCH THESE DANGER SIGNALS!

HEADACHES, dizziness, coated tongue, loss of appetite, lack of energy, a general feeling of "blues"—these are the most frequent danger signals of constipation.

Look out for them. Don't let them make your life miserable. Start tomorrow eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—a delicious ready-to-eat cereal. As pleasant as it is healthful. What a relief it will be after taking unnatural, habit-forming pills and drugs.

Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily are guaranteed to prevent and relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. In severe cases, eat it three times daily.

Milk or cream brings out the delightful nut-like taste of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. And with milk or cream, important vitamins are furnished. ALL-BRAN is equally tempting with fruits or honey. Sprinkle it over other cereals.

Use it in cooking—for making delicious bran muffins, breads, in omelets, etc. ALL-BRAN also has iron, the builder of good, rich, red blood. At all grocers in the famous red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. The original ALL-Bran.

The Circle

A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit, neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit.—Matthew 7:18.

TAKE a map of the world, and draw a circle around the reachings of the Church. You will find within this circle everything that is good and beautiful and desirable. All the clean, wholesome virtues, all the treasures worth having and loving, are included. The lands outside this circle are places where you would not care to live. The things outside are those that you would not care to possess.

The conclusion is inevitable: The Church sponsors and promotes the best things. Support the Church, and you will be helping every good thing on this earth.

To Parents
At Sunday School, children are made stronger in moral fibre and are given a faith that helps them for the rest of their lives. Give them a chance to win what is rightfully theirs.

Welcome Guests
People who are traveling miss the friendly air of a Sunday at home. There is really no need for them to do so. The Churches here have a cordial welcome waiting for them now.

NEW SCENES CHARACTERIZE ANNUAL PASSION PLAY

The ascension scene

Jesus as portrayed by Frederick Hitch

New scenes and elaborate stage effects mark the eighth annual presentation of the "Passion Play" by the Consistory Players of Bloomington, Ill. The final performance is scheduled for May 3 and seats are being sold far in advance. The play is given by the Masonic order and is non-commercial. Above, the Ascension, Jesus as portrayed by Frederick Hitch, and D. D. Darrah, author.

British Plane Carrier That Crashed Liner

While cruising in the vicinity of the Rock of Gibraltar, the British airplane carrier, H. M. S. Glorious, crashed into the French liner Florida during a dense fog. Thirty of the Florida's passengers were reported killed and several others injured. All the survivors were removed to the plane carrier, which stood by to aid the damaged liner.

AUTHOR RELISHES MONKEY MEAT

"I have eaten monkey meat and enjoyed it. I have also eaten dried caterpillar. They are salty. I never really liked them." So says Mrs. Katie Seabrook, author of "Gao of the Ivory Coast," and wife of the author of "The Magic Island," W. B. Seabrook. Mr. and Mrs. Seabrook lived for two months with cannibal tribes in Africa, and visited villages where the natives had never seen a white woman and ran shrieking whenever Mrs. Seabrook appeared. The couple plan similar adventures in the future.

HATHAWAY SNAPPED IN HIS CELL

Thousand-Foot Dive Ends in Backyard

It isn't every day that a plane drops into one's backyard, so this group of rubbering citizens of Western Springs, Chicago, may be excused for whiling away a few moments in examination of the visitor from the sky. Photo was taken after the two-seater biplane, piloted by Ralph C. Wilson, had dived from 1,000 feet and crashed on the lawn of a suburban villa. Wilson was critically injured.

MORMON COUNCIL MEETS FOR FIRST TIME IN 20 YEARS

When, for the first time in over 20 years the Council of the Twelve of Mormon (Latter Day Saint) church assembled in Salt Lake temple, Salt Lake City, Utah, this photograph was taken. It is of especial interest since Senator Reed Smoot is one of the elders. They are in the order of their seniority, front row, left to right, President Rudger Clawson and Elders Smoot, George Albert Smith, George F. Richards, Orson F. Whitney and David O. McKay; standing, Elders Joseph Fielding Smith, James E. Talmage, Stephen L. Richards, Richard R. Lyman, Melvin J. Ballard, J. A. Widtsoe.

Hoovers Entertain at Egg Rolling

Braving the rain nearly three thousand youngsters participated in the annual egg rolling festivities on the White House lawn Easter Monday. President Hoover and his family were present. Above is a general view of the affair.

DENTIST TO A HAREM

American Dentist For Sultan And Wives Tells How They Live And Get Along

BEAUTY is uppermost in the minds of these women, and practically their entire time is devoted to beautifying their bodies.

THE SULTAN manages so many wives because he keeps them all jealous of each other.

By EDWIN PRYOR
Central Press Correspondent
WICHITA, Kan., April 10.—Official dentist to his Royal Highness the Sultan of Morocco—and his Royal Highness's harem. That's the enviable position held by Dr. Frank Bostwick of Gibraltar, Spain, who deserted his pleasant duties recently to Dr. J. F. Kernan, Wichita dentist and former class mate of his. And Dr. Bostwick has accumulated many bits of wisdom from the manner in which the sultan keeps his wives happy—pointers which might help American men who experience difficulty in keeping just one life partner happy, or which might have just the opposite effect.

"How does the sultan manage so many wives? Well, he keeps them all jealous of each other," said Dr. Bostwick. "And it seems to work out very well."

One Favorite Wife

"He always has a favorite wife or concubine—one that particularly pleases him because of her beauty, character, kindness, or other traits he admires. And immediately he has settled upon a favorite, all his other wives try to emulate her, to copy the mannerisms and traits which have won his favor. It's a sure method of keeping them all clever and interesting."

"Would it work in this country, where a man is allowed just one wife? Well, you'll have to answer that question for yourself."

Sometimes, Dr. Bostwick pointed out, the favorite is harshly treated by the other wives when the sultan is absent, but none, the less the others try to pattern themselves after her.

"It's a fight to succeed her in the sultan's esteem," he explained.

Likes All Types

Not knowing how many women constitute the harem of the sultan, Dr. Bostwick is not prepared to say whether or not the sultan prefers blonds.

"Of the many who have come to me for dental work, there have been blonds, vivacious brunettes, and a few audacious titan-haired beauties. Apparently all types are popular."

The women do not come to his office alone, as they would in the United States, Dr. Bostwick pointed out. Court officials and at least one eunuch, or harem guard always accompanies the Mrs. Sultan who feels that her teeth need cleaning, or a bit of drilling. Of course, his royal highness never bothers to accompany any of his wives to the dentist's office.

"The women try to please the sultan—not he them," Dr. Bostwick explained. "They do the comforting, the enticing, the wooing."

Little Freedom

Modern freedom of womanhood hasn't reached the sultan's harem yet, and from all indications, few inhabitants of his seraglio desire it, the American dentist said. In dress, they discreetly follow the custom of the highest caste of Moorish femininity.

In place of skirts the women wear full satin trousers which come slightly below their knees and are held in place with a band usually edged with a ruffle. Nothing of the slenderized waist line is found in their costume for the top of the trousers, which measure from two to three yards, is drawn in place with a heavy cord. The distinctive feature of the Moorish dress is that the women of high cast wear a wide girdle encircling their waist, while those of the lower caste omit this phase of attire.

"Beauty is uppermost in the minds of these women and practically their entire time is devoted to beautifying their bodies and basking in the luxurious quarters which the sultan provides," said Dr. Bostwick.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. HILDA CULTICE

Mrs. Hilda Cultice, 37, wife of Walter Cultice, died at her home on the Birch Road, one-half mile east of Xenia, Friday morning at 12:40 o'clock. She had been ill two weeks suffering from a complication of diseases.

Mrs. Cultice was born in Randolph County, Indiana, April 14, 1893, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Mullen, Washington St., this city. She was a member of Trinity M. E. Church. Besides her husband and parents, the following children survive: Winston, Lowell, Evelyn, Rachel, Wendell and Henry, all at home.

Funeral services will be held at the home Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, in charge of the Rev. J. W. Patton, Ottawa, O., formerly of Yellow Springs, assisted by the Rev. E. A. Rager, pastor of Trinity M. E. Church. Burial will take place in Clifton Cemetery.

CENTRAL SENIORS WILL GIVE COMEDY

"Take My Advice," a three-act comedy by Elliott Lester, was selected by the senior class of Central High School Friday morning for presentation as its annual class play Thursday and Friday nights, May 14 and 15 in Jean B. Elwell Auditorium.

The cast has eight characters, including five boys and three girls, and try-outs will be held, beginning next week.

The production will be under the direction of Miss Olive Allen, English teacher.

The Theater

The Ziegfeld Follies, famed for its beauties which have made and unmade many a man, will blossom forth again in June after a cessation of four years.

Florenz Ziegfeld, the glorifier, will present his Follies in his own theater, thereby breaking a twenty-year-old tradition. A brand new set of beautiful faces (and legs) will be gathered from the furthest corners of the earth. It is intimated.

Walter Donaldson is writing the tunes and Joe McCarthy the lyrics. The book will be by James Montgomery.

Uncle Carl Laemmle is elated over the news that the Reichstag has lifted the ban on "All Quiet on the Western Front" in Germany. The anti-war film has been shown in bordering countries and special trains have been run from Germany.

Representatives of Universal also cabled that the former Crown Prince Wilhelm saw the picture last week in Holland and that the Prince of Wales and his brother, Prince George, were guests of honor at a showing in Sal Pao, Brazil.

Uncle Carl is celebrating his Silver Jubilee this year and is happy over the announcement that his biography, "The Life and Adventures of Carl Laemmle," by John Drinkwater, will be published by the Putnam Press April 10. The book has a foreword by Will Hays, movie czar and is dedicated to Laemmle's granddaughter, Carol Laemmle Bergerman.

Elissa Landi, the Fox star, for whom Adela Rogers Hyland has been commissioned to write a prison story, is the Greta Garbo of the Fox lot and the new picture is said to be in response to criticism that followed her first vehicle, "Body and Soul."

Mrs. Hyland is getting material for her story at San Quentin, famous California prison. Miss bolting and voting with the opposition. Ironically enough, it was "Nick" himself who drew attention to this situation in his closing speech in the house on the 4th of March last. He told the members, in a serio-comic vein, that "an all wise providence" would determine whether he should again address them from the rostrum.

DEATH WILL CHANGE CONGRESS LINEUP; CONTROL DOUBTFUL

The immediate task ahead of Republicans is to find a candidate of sufficient stature in Cincinnati to hold the first district. In the political temper of the district is the same as it was last November the task is no easy one.

Rep. Schafer (R) of Wisconsin, came out openly today with the suggestion that Mrs. Longworth stand for her late husband's seat, in conformity with a practice that has grown up in recent years of the widows of members "carrying on."

The decision, of course, is Mrs. Longworth's, but none of her intimates in Washington today believed that she would consider it for a minute. Her interest in politics is well known, but it is an aloof interest and one that is far removed from the hard, grubby work of a campaign, involving as it does the handshaking, the back-slapping, the baby-patting, etc. No one who knows Alice Roosevelt Longworth believes that her interest in politics will carry her that far.

The question of who is to succeed the popular "Nick" as the Republicans' speakership candidate presents even more complications. Had he lived he probably would have been the speaker, for there was no more genuinely popular man in congress than "Nick" Longworth. It was said of him, and with some justice, that even the Democrats would vote for him if they could do so by secret ballot.

He was a great compromiser of difficult situations, was "Nick." He knew no trade, and how to keep the house in a good humor in trying situations.

Probably a dozen men of the Republican side now aspire to the speakership in a really serious way. There is Tilson of Connecticut, the majority leader; Snell of New York, chairman of the powerful rules committee; and Wood of Indiana, chairman of the appropriations committee. They comprise a triumvirate that has ruled the house with an iron hand in recent years.

Whether either could command support enough to gain the rostrum is at least debatable.

There is Hoch of Kansas, generally regular, but independent at times. There is Mapes of Michigan, quiet, dry, conservative, whom "Nick" drafted at times to occupy the chair; there is Ramseyer of Iowa, a regular of progressive tendencies; and Purnell of Indiana, who is able and popular as chairman of the agriculture committee.

The progressives are in a rare spot. They hold the balance of power and can, if they choose, insist upon a progressively-minded speaker. The betting is they will.

If the Democrats organize, there is no question about the speakership. "Jack" Garner of Texas, is the man. If the Republicans organize, they may have to pull the name out of a hat.

DIVORCE GRANTED HERE SUSTAINED BY COURT OF APPEALS

Judgment of Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy in granting Ruth Woodward a divorce from Coleman L. Woodward and awarding her certain real estate in Warren County, New York, as alimony, is affirmed in a decision of the Greene County Court of Appeals announced Friday.

Admitting no judgments of Ohio courts can legally control the title to real estate situated in another state, the appellate court held the trial court had the right to award this property as alimony, such an award being valid in this state. As to whether the award is valid in New York depends upon the laws of that state and upon proceedings of Mrs. Woodward to recover the property, the court ruled.

In her suit for divorce and alimony, on grounds of gross neglect of duty, Mrs. Woodward charged her husband continually borrowed money from her and that she had three notes aggregating $800 for money loaned to him. After he had borrowed all her money he left her and went to New York, after which she heard from him infrequently, she asserted.

The couple was married December 14, 1927, no children being born of the union. The plaintiff also claimed to have paid $400 for certain property in New York state September 28, 1928, the title to the real estate, she said, being inadvertently taken in her husband's name.

HOOVERS WILL LEAD WASHINGTON PARTY TO ATTEND FUNERAL

Republican party leaders of the district which may result from Speaker Longworth's death. Easily the most popular individual in the house, Republican leaders had counted heavily upon his ability and popularity to secure Republican control again next December.

The funeral train, leaving Aiken at 11 a. m., on the Southern Railway, was to pass through Asheville, N. C., Lexington and Danville, Ky., to Cincinnati, arriving at 7 a. m. Saturday.

The body was expected to be taken to "Rockwood," long the home of the Longworths, pioneers of Cincinnati, to remain until taken to Christ Episcopal Church for services at 2 p. m.

A congressional party of more than 100 was to leave here at 6:30 p. m. arriving in Cincinnati early tomorrow. Arranged by Sergeant-at-Arms Joseph Rodgers of the house, it included all members of the Ohio house delegation, at least one member from the other forty-seven states, and twelve senators.

President and Mrs. Hoover, Vice President Curtis, Joel T. Boone, White House physician; Secretaries Newton and Joslin, military aides and cabinet members are to leave on the Baltimore and Ohio tonight.

Col. Campbell Hodges, aide to the President, had flown to Aiken to offer his services to Mrs. Longworth and to accompany the body to Cincinnati.

Although Mrs. Longworth had desired to have the funeral held at the Longworth home in Cincinnati, close friends persuaded her to permit services at a church, where more people may attend.

Showing all the courage of her late father, Theodore Roosevelt, Mrs. Longworth has reported to be bearing up well under the shock. She personally made funeral arrangements in telephone conversations from Aiken to the speaker's office here and to relatives in Cincinnati.

She talked to her husband on the telephone Monday, it was said by friends. At that time, she informed them, the speaker's voice was that of a tired man but no alarm was felt over the slight touch of pneumonia.

When physicians resorted to oxygen treatment and it was reported that his heart action was not good, she became alarmed and quickly made plans to leave for Aiken. She previously had planned to join him Sunday.

The speaker, it was reported, was in a coma when Mrs. Longworth reached there Wednesday, but even then his condition did not appear dangerous. As the crisis of the illness approached, he sank rapidly.

The last instruction the speaker gave to his office regarding his income tax. He had obtained an extension while completing it. He had been urged not to worry, and a representative planned to go to Aiken to consult him concerning it.

It will be a sad home-coming in Cincinnati for little Paulina Longworth, the golden-haired six-year-old daughter of the speaker. She went there a few days ago with a nurse, to await her parents.

The active pall-bearers for the funeral will be relatives of the speaker, including Kermit and Archie Roosevelt, Buckner Wallingford, his sons, Landen, Buckner, Jr., and Nicholas. Kermit and Archie Roosevelt flew to Aiken to join their sister, Mrs. Longworth.

Thirty honorary pall-bearers were to be named today in Cincinnati.

Speaker Longworth Man Of Many Parts Photos Show

In the death of Nicholas Longworth the nation not only mourns its speaker of the house of representatives but a sportsman and musician of note as these photos show. He was a favorite at social gatherings in the national capital because of his ability as a violinist and organist and was known also as an expert horseman and fisherman. The picture to the right center shows the late speaker in a cheering group of pages of the house of representatives during a recent party at the national capitol. Mr. Longworth's popularity extended beyond party bounds.

RECORD SALE HELD NEAR XENIA IN YEAR 1870

LONDON, O., April 1.—Some mighty high prices for livestock have been paid in all parts of the country in years past, but it is doubtful if beef cattle in a public sale ever sold for higher prices than was averaged in a sale back in 1870. The sale, records here reveal, was held near Xenia by Daniel McMillan.

During the war, high prices prevailed in general throughout the United States and the world, but the McMillan sale totaled $64,000 for seventy head of registered Shorthorn cattle, an average of more than $900 a head, with a top price of $3,600.

The old sale and the high prices are listed in an article in the Ohio Agricultural Report for the year 1870, found some years ago in an old house by W. C. Grant of South Charleston, near here.

McMillan, it was recalled, was one of the leading Shorthorn breeders of his period, which, incidentally, numbered some of the great cattle raisers of the world, most of them residing in Ohio within a short distance of this city and of South Charleston.

Many of the animals in the McMillan herd which were sold at the time had been champions of fairs in Ohio and in other states.

Equally vivid in their memory is Roosevelt's entrance into the race of 1912 as a "Bull Moose" candidate when he split the Republican party with the result that Woodrow Wilson was elected and both himself and Taft were defeated.

Some type of an agreement would have to be reached between rival Republican factions in the Longworth district before either of the Tafts could be elected to congress, it was generally agreed here. Otherwise, a Democrat—State Senator David Lorbach of Cincinnati, has been suggested—might take the seat. That happened only once during Mr. Longworth's national political career—in 1912, the year of the Wilson landslide.

Farm Notes

RATION OF HEN AFFECTS FOOD VALUE OF EGGS

The common belief among the consuming public that "an egg is an egg" as long as it is fresh is a misconception, according to tests conducted by R. M. Bethke in the Nutrition Division of the Ohio Experiment Station. Experiments designed to determine the vitamin content of eggs laid by hens which received different feeds and management showed that the vitamin-A and -D potency of the egg depends primarily upon the management and feed of the hen.

Hens which were kept indoors and fed a ration of yellow corn, wheat, oats, middlings, bran, and meat scraps, laid eggs, the yolks of which were only one-fifth as rich in vitamin A as the yolks from eggs laid by hens receiving the same ration but having access to a bluegrass range. Similar differences were noted with respect to vitamin D—the yolks from the eggs of the outdoor birds were ten times more potent than those from the indoor birds. Feeding one per cent of a potent cod-liver oil in the basal mash resulted in eggs which were approximately five times more potent in these vitamins than eggs from a group fed the basal ration only. Likewise, the feeding of chopped legume hay or meals with the control ration proved beneficial in increasing vitamin A, but had no material effect on vitamin D.

In the light of these results it would be well to obtain eggs for use in hospitals and for infants and children from flocks that are fed an adequate ration and that have access to a good outdoor range or receive potent cod-liver oil in their feed.
